Stripped of a militaristic attitude, this season’s collection of Rani Hatta showcases a sporty luxe look with clean cuts and oversized casual tailoring. Inspired by desert soldier, this collection serves softer appearance with urban approach.

This collection borrows elements from the uniforms of desert soldier and reimagines it into a modern design. It emphasizes functionality and designed for fashion and function. Not only for a joy to wear but very versatile.

The combination between zipped and buttoned shirt nor jacket, structured suit, trench coat, multipocket shirts, denim, safari jackets, sharp collars, and loose silhouettes, are all part of this collection.

The earthy colour palette, military undertones and sand dune hues will take over the runway in this season.
